

THE SONG OF THE WHALES

Welcome to the echo
that bounces over the waves that haunts the tides
to lull their sirens
with songs of the sea

Jets of steam
are condensed in clouds of seagulls and gannets Jumps that explode
in foam and salt Footsteps banish
in a splash of fins

Songs that seem to cry of love
Calls of passion
that drift away
in the eddies
of magnetic fields
as the moon shines
to start the serenade
