What Moves The World Round

Too long alone
Trying too hard
To be the one
Who can write

The poem that Describes what
The people have
In their minds

A man was drinking
The venom of the night
From a deep bottle
Of dark crystal

Waiting for something

A little unusual

Like a shooting star

Or a hairy butterfly

When he heard a voice

From the bottom of the space

Saying: listen friend

Every instant people think the same

It is of food and sex

Even angels do the same

Listen carefully friend

To the concert of howls

That ascend to the moon
Annoying her every night
Not only the cats are always
Claiming for more of that

If stones could cry
For more of that
They would join the group
That thinks it's never enough

What you get of this things
Because we all need more time
Or to get a credit to get more of
What moves the world round

And when the new day was dawning
The man can heard the stones
Claiming for more of what
Moves the world round

So he kept writing
Without sleeping
Until finishing this
To publish it in the web

And got fired from his job
For went too late to work
And joined the concert of howls
For more of what you now might know
